Late October Pop-Ups Wrap-Up

By: Kim Cox

Several pop-up hikes occurred during the last part of October and they were a big hit! Here's a summary of those fun events!

Lakeshore: 12 hikers from BCOS + Shreveport Weekday Hikers Meet-up group gathered on 10/26/21 at the Lakeshore (St. Matthias) trails. We were thrilled to have Marshall (who is recovering from a fall/injury) come to see us off and to have Chuck (recovering from illness) join us on the hike!! We had planned about a 3 mile adventure but some logging activity had sections of the trail closed so we completed a leisurely 2 miles instead. A fun time with a fun group!!

Bistineau: It was a BREEZY day for the 4 hikers that met at Lake Bistineau State Park on 10/28/21 to hike the Koasati trail. We completed the 3 mile hike, spotted at least 5 deer along the way, had some great conversation and then enjoyed a delicious post-hike meal together at Swamp Daddy's! Moral of the story: don't let the threat of blustery weather scare you off... a windy hike can be FUN!!

Walter B Jacobs: A BIG group (22 of us!) gathered on 10/31/21 at Walter B Jacobs Park for a hike along the nature trails in perfect weather conditions! Matt brought treats to hand out (thanks Matt!) and a couple of hikers were dressed in the Halloween spirit too! We had fun exploring almost 3 miles of beautiful trails, identifying plants and flowers along the way and admiring the resident birds and deer. We met a journalist/photographer on the trails from the Natchitoches Parish Journal doing a story on family friendly outings who took our group pic (cool!). A perfect way to spend a fall afternoon!

Our "Spooky" Lake D'Arbonne Hike

By: Kim Cox

Nine hikers (some from BCOS/some from Shreveport Weekday Hikers group) met on Saturday, October 23rd at Lake D'Arbonne State Park near Farmerville, LA. We gathered at the boat launch and other than a not-so-friendly first meeting between Luci and Autumn-Rose (our 2 canine hikers) we started out as planned. We traveled the Cypress Bend (white) trail past the park's new yurt area (cool addition!) to the Tall Pines (green) trail. We took a minute to examine a dead snake on the road to discuss how to identify it as a copperhead ("Hershey kiss" pattern on its back) then continued onto the "spooky" section of the trail. This part of the park is "haunted" with a variety of ghosts, werewolves, and scary dolls (which Luci did NOT care for at all... especially the motion-detecting doll that just about gave us all a heart attack!!).

As the trail took us past the park entrance one of the rangers took our group pic and thanked us for hiking and for picking up trash along the way (and even gave us a shout-out on the park's Facebook page). We continued on the Woodland (yellow) and Big Horn (orange) trails which are the prettiest trails in the park... you feel like you're in Arkansas!). Becky located some lion's mane mushrooms (what a find!!) as we made it back to the starting point (completing our 3 mile hike) with Luci and Autumn-Rose learning to co-exist peacefully. We enjoyed our post-hike picnic lunch (deciding that at least one double stuffed Oreo cookie per mile of hiking was an appropriate serving size) and chit-chatted about how to solve the world's problems (haha). It was a beautiful day in a beautiful place and I look forward to hiking with all of these folks again!!

Charge of the BCOS Brigade????

By: Mark Lane

I

Half a score, half a score,
Half a score onward,
Near the Island of the Goat
Paddled the sev'n hungered.
"Forward, the BCOS Brigade!
Charge for the shore!" they said.
To the Island of the Goat,
Paddled the sev'n hungered.

II

"Forward, the BCOS Brigade!"
Was there a one dismayed?
Not though these 'yakers knew
Someone had blundered.
Theirs not to make reply,
Theirs not to reason why,
Theirs but to paddle, aye.
To the Island of the Goat,
Paddled the sev'n hungered.

III

Salvinia to the right of them,
Salvinia to the left of them,
Salvinia in front of them
Muck and mire under;
Trapped by a tree that fell,
Portage they did and well,
Not content to stay this night,
In Caddo Lake Motel
Paddled on, sev'n hungered.

IV

Flashed all their paddles bare,
Flashed as they flailed in air
Paddling for progress there,
Charging salvinia, while
Saner ones wondered.
Plucky and crafty folk
O'er fallen trees they broke
Kayak and paddler
Reeled from the many strokes
Exhausted and famished.
Then they paddled back, oh yes,
Yes, the sev'n hungered.

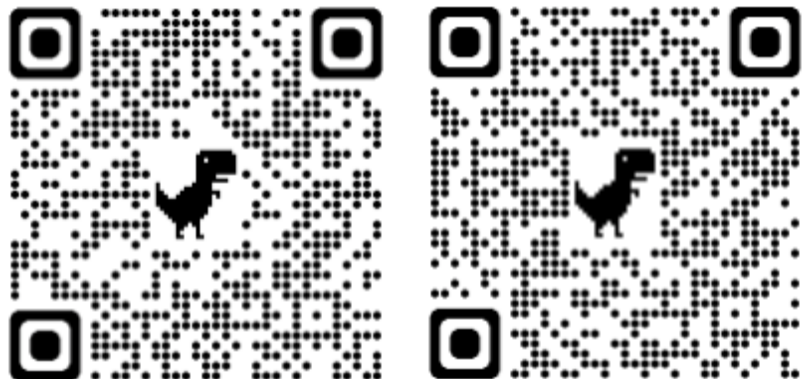

V

Salvinia to the right of them,
Salvinia to the left of them,
Salvinia in front of them
Muck and mire under;
Trapped by a tree that fell
Not a single paddler fell
They that had travel'd so well
Not six miles as planned
But ten of weary hell,
All that began with them
All the sev'n hungered.

VI

When can their glory fade?
Oh, the wild trip they made!
Saner ones wondered.
Honour the choice they made!
Honour the BCOS Brigade,
Noble sev'n hungered.

Those with more respect for Lord Tennyson may wish to simply view two different YouTube versions of this paddling trip that took place on November 6, 2021 on Caddo Lake. Thanks, Marian and Kim.

The "one who had blundered" was, uhhh, myself. Next time I'll check the map for salvinia. But mad props to the rest of the "Sev'n Hungered" -- Roy, Marian, Sandy, Kim, Kevin, and Tom. Never was there a more pleasant, positive, easy-going and capable group of paddlers. Cheers!

Starr Ranch Paddle

By: John Fortune

On Sunday, October 17, nine of us met at 8:30 am at Starr Ranch on the Caddo Lake National Wildlife Refuge. Those in attendance were, Marian Howard, Roy O'Neal, Dick Maxwell, Mark Lane, Stephanie Parks, Kevin and Lynn Clary, Lane Carlisle and me, John Fortune. There were 3 tandem canoes and 3 kayaks. We used the new kayak/canoe launch on the new floating dock at Starr Ranch. There was evidence that an alligator had used the launch to climb up onto the dock. It had left a muddy trail across the launch and dock. We were on the water by 9:00 am. It was a nice cool sunny morning. We headed southeast out of Goose Prairie and after many twists and turns, good conversation and laughter, we ended up 3 hours and 6.7 miles later arriving back at Starr Ranch through Starr Ditch. We loaded up our boats and headed out of the refuge. Seven of us met at Big Pines Lodge and continued having a good time over good food. After that, we went our separate ways looking forward to another good time on the water.

Ozark Society Board Zoom Meeting

By: Sandy Roerig

The Ozark Society Board meeting was held October 26, 2021 via on-line Zoom technology due to restrictions prompted by the COVID-19 pandemic caused by the SARS-CoV-2 virus. Fourteen Ozark Society and Ozark Society Foundation members and guests participated. Wayne Kiefer, and Sandy Roerig from the Bayou Chapter participated.

The meeting was opened at 6:30 p.m. by President David Peterson. Minutes of the July 2021 meeting by Secretary Sandy were approved. The Treasurer's report by Treasurer Kay Ewert was also approved.

Old Business

50th Anniversary Celebration: David described the upcoming 50th Anniversary of the Ozark Society Celebration. Three hikes have already been completed in the Buffalo River watershed. Luke Parsch noted that mostly members from the Highlands and Pulaski Chapter are participating. Stewart Noland stated that the Buffalo River float will start at the Hwy 65 bridge and end at the White River. Float will be held June 13-18, 2022. Groups of 15 will be accommodated. The trip fee is $150, and includes the shuttle. David noted that people can sign up for the trip on-line.

Janet Parsch discussed the upcoming meeting on May 10-11 with Ozark Society coalition partners from the Buffalo Watershed Alliance and members of the joint Agriculture Committee of the Arkansas Legislature. There will be a short float on the river and other activities, including a keynote speech by Mark Faust, Superintendent of the Buffalo River National Park. Volunteers will be needed to help out with the events.

Janet also described a networking event on March 31, 2022 at the Bailey Center in Mt. Sequoia in Fayetteville, AR. Representatives from northwest AR environmental groups and OS members are invited. The keynote speaker will be Rex Nelson.

David stated that he has viewed part of the documentary on the Buffalo River history and it looks good. He said the Marvin Schwartz would like ideas from members on where to show the film – it does not yet have an official name.

Gilbert Dark Sky Project: David announced that the Gilbert Dark Sky project has been cancelled. Laura Timby stated that moving forward for different street lights in Gilbert is a very slow process.

Marble Falls Nature Park: David noted that Marble Falls Nature Park is the new name for the Dog Patch area. This project will be similar to other projects sponsored by Bass Pro and Johnny Morris. Janet said that she and Luke have toured a similar project, Cedar Lodge, that is on US 65 just north of Branson, MO. There are paved trails, golf carts and many man-made interventions in the 'nature' park. Luke noted that the site draws lots of tourists who want to view an expanding sinkhole there.

David asked what the position of the OS should be on the park. He sees no reason to oppose it, and the project may actually clean up Mill Creek. He has met with Julie Linck, the ADEQ chair, and believes that the group will be environmentally responsible with this project.

Board Reports

Carolyn Shearman, Communications /Membership Chair, reported that she has dropped membership of people who had not yet renewed for 2021. She described membership renewals between the second and third quarters of 2021. All chapters showed membership declines for that period, except for the Bayou Chapter, which showed an increase in membership. The Chapter does a great job in keeping members informed about pop-up hikes and paddles.

David stated that currently the Pack & Paddle is not posted on the OS website until all members have received their copies. He asked whether the issues should be posted earlier. There were no objections to this proposal. David said he will do this.

Alice Andrews, Conservation Chair, reported on a trip she made last Tuesday, arranged by Tom McClure, to several sites of potential expansion for wilderness areas. These areas include a section on the left of the trail to Cedar Creek that includes some very large trees. There was discussion on sharing trails with bicycles.

Fred Paillet, Education Chair was absent, but he has been busy promoting his book, which is becoming a best seller.

Brian Thompson, Community Engagement Chair, reported that the OS Facebook page has 5,000 followers and there are lots of chapter activities. He mention that the Bayou Chapter is particularly active, with many pop-up events.

Stewart Noland, Archives Chair, had no additional report.

Lowell Collins, Sugarcreek Chapter Chair, asked about Ozark Society brochures. She wanted to know who is responsible for printing more of these. David answered that there is no one in particular in charge of these, but printed copies quickly become outdated. He said he would work on this project and would appreciate input from chapters.

Janet Nye, Pulaski Chapter, stated that Leave No Trace has joined with a group at Colorado State University to develop an app that will measure the people and congestion around the Buffalo River. The goal is to quantify the congestion on the river and river banks. David supported this idea. Brian stated that he can promote the use of the app on the FaceBook page.

Lowell stated that she has used this and added her data to the site. David noted that collating the data will be difficult. All voted to support the project.

New Business

David stated that he hopes his meeting with Julie Linck and ADEQ will improve future communications. David noted that the Buffalo River Watershed intersects 4 Congressional Districts.

Chapter Reports

Bayou Chapter: Wayne reported that due to the excellent weather, the chapter has sponsored many outing, mostly paddling at this time of year. However, he feels that new members have not had much opportunity to participate in conservation activities of the chapter as yet. David noted that Sarah Philyaw, the Chapter Chair, has submitted an application for the youth program grant.

Buffalo River: Laura Timby stated that she will get together with Ferrel and Wendy to support activities of the 50th Anniversary Celebration.

Highlands: Tom Perry reported that the Chapter has begun their fall weekly hiking schedule, usually on Saturdays, but sometimes also during the week. The Chapter held their first monthly meeting last night, after not meeting for a while. Brian described the Mt. Whitney trip.

Mississippi River: Brenda Crites reported that a Chapter planning meeting was held yesterday and there was a Chapter outing today.

Pulaski: Stewart stated that the Chapter has been meeting via Zoom, with good speakers. Several outings have been scheduled. David noted that the Chapter will participate in a fall festival this weekend.

Schoolcraft: Loring Bullard had left the meeting.

Sugarcreek: Lowell reported that she has participated in a few public events that allowed her to promote the Ozark Society. She wants to distribute free books to new members, namely, the butterfly book.

Luke updated everyone on Ken Smith. Ken hurt his back on September 7 and moved into an assisted living facility in Fayetteville. He seems to be quite happy living there.

David reminded everyone of the upcoming General Membership meeting on Thursday, October 28.

Meeting adjourned at 8:20 p.m.
